MODEL 1895 SBL

INTRODUCING THE FIRST RUGER-MADE MARLIN[®] FIREARM: THE MARLIN[®] MODEL 1895 SBL

This American-made lever-action rifle was manufactured with great pride and attention to detail. You can expect the same time-honored design as the traditional 1895, combined with Ruger's trusted reputation for producing high-quality, reliable firearms.

LONG LIVE THE LEVER GUN.[™]

QUALITY CRAFTED INTO EVERY RIFLE

Improved manufacturing processes create tight tolerances, resulting in a reliable, attractive rifle. Multi-layered quality control procedures, including daily function and accuracy audits and multiple inspections, result in a high-quality product.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS

This 1895 SBL is loaded with improvements. Here are some changes we made in bringing back this iconic rifle:

- Ghost ring rear sight is adjustable for windage/elevation and tritium fiber optic, high visibility day/night front sight allows for quicker target acquisition in low light.
- Updated Picatinny rail provides a stable mounting surface for scope rings and a variety of modern optics.
- Nickel-plated bolt with spiral flutes adds a distinctive, classy look and a smoother action.
- Refined stock fit and thinner forend improve aesthetics and ergonomics.
- Improved finish on the stock and forend and checkered grip panels provide superior grip in all conditions.
- Threaded barrel, with a match-polished, factory-installed thread protector, has a 11/16" x 24 pattern to accommodate a muzzle brake or other barrel accessories.

NEW DETAILS

You may notice some changes to the details on this rifle. Here is how to identify a Ruger-made, Marlin® Model 1895 SBL:

- Location of manufacture on the barrel reads "Mayodan, NC."
- New "RP" proof mark located on the left side of the firearm.
- Ruger-made Marlin® rifles begin with the serial prefix of "RM."
- Marlin Horse and Rider logo laser engraved on the grip.
- The traditional black and white Marlin bullseye located on the rifle stock is now red and white.
